

Executive Research Association (ERA) Conference 2019

The must-attend event for Executive Research, Search and Talent Acquisition professionals

April 30th 2019 | Sadler's Wells Theatre London

As executive researchers, resourcers, executive search and talent professionals we know we are experts in talent sourcing, using a range of platforms and research techniques to identify the best high-level candidates. But how expert and up-to-date are we? Are we conscious of the changes in technology that can enhance our capabilities? Do we understand the latest tools and techniques that can ensure we are at the cutting edge of Executive Search in order to attract the very best talent?

The ERA Conference 2019 aims to answer these critical questions and ensure that Executive Researchers, Recruiters and Talent Sourcing professionals are fully equipped and responsive to the changes and developments across our sector. With notable and leading experts from across the industry presenting and leading workshops to arm you with the most up to date technological developments, searching capabilities and sector advancements that will ultimately enhance your knowledge.

Internationally renowned speakers, including the newly appointed Chief Executive of the Recruitment and Employment Confederation (REC) and the global Head of Talent Intelligence at Philips presenting on up-to-date industry developments.

This is in conjunction with practical workshops conducted by leading experts who will provide you with practical processes, skills and knowledge to enhance your talent pipeline.

Whether you are from an Executive Search organisation, working freelance or in-house, given the changing landscape in the Executive Search sector this is an event you and your colleagues should not miss.
